SAN DIEGO | MODERN LUXURY™

The Double Dose

We knew it—two like-minded things of beauty could only keep their hands off each other for so long. That's right, cosmetic pharma-giant Allergan (see Botox and Restylane) and department-store staple Clinique are set to rendezvous, with an S.D. medico at the helm. Dr. Amir Moradi, doc of choice to NorCo's yummy mummies, describes the Clinique collabo as a "higher standard" to aid the post-op healing process, offsetting the ouch factor in redness culprits like chemical peels and facelifts. Meanwhile, a lavish lip balm and Rx-only moisturizer should satiate needle-phobes. Ain't love grand? face-beautiful.com.

Suite & Low Down

SPA AT THE SÈ The long-awaited unveiling of Spa at the Sè San Diego doles out an authentic Moroccan Rasul—an oh-so-private steam—along with massage tables that vibrate to your choice of go-go global beats. Let's get it Om! 1047 5th Ave., Downtown, 619.515.3000.

ROCK SPA AT THE HARD ROCK HOTEL The last indulgence for many a blushing S.D. bride is the resort's crushed-pearl facial, followed up by a let's-get-personal massage. In aisle denial? Sweeten it up with the Amped-Up Sugar Scrub. 207 5th Ave., Downtown, 619.764.6930.

SPA AT THE HOTEL DEL CORONADO Hot stones? So '08. The latest offerings at this award-winning hotel spa use shells in lieu of traditional rocks. For those in need of a quickie bikini boost, a "Slim-Again" wrap is the perfect prep for exhibitionists headed back to the sand. 1500 Orange Ave., 619.522.8100.

LICENSE TO CHILL: Poolside at the Hotel Del. Below: The Grand Del Mar.

GRAND DEL MAR The Grand Del Mar's all-day pick-me-up package includes a treatment, a fitness sesh, lunch at Amaya and all the poolside lounging you can handle. Here, the Renaissance motif is in full effect: The Art for Art's Sake facial gets you glowing like a Botticelli cherub, and the day is finished in a chic red-and-white striped lounge at the resort's pool. Sure, the Sistine Chapel wasn't painted in a day, but you can still get a head-to-toe restoration done in record time. 5300 Grand Del Mar Court, 858.314.2020.

MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE: S.D.-based Scentsa aides parfum-perplexed Sephora shoppers nationwide.

Take Notes!

It's about time fragrance came to its (ahem) scentses. "Someone should change their perfume as often as their wardrobe," says Carlsbad-based redolence sage Jan Moran, the mastermind behind beauty's new high-tech toy, Scentsa, a touch-screen database of over 7,000 fragrances (and counting!). Miss your bottle of 1984 Coco? This dream machine will find a modern incarnation with similar mandarin and pimento notes. Hot for '09: fig and pomegranate. Expect it to hit Sephora soon in S.D. and now nationwide. scentsa.com.

Face Value

Talk about mad science! Dr. Gram, a practicing pharmacist and mix-master of the immaculate complexion, has concocted SKIN1, a homegrown (or should we say homeglown?) line of elixirs boasting (what else?) pharmaceutical-grade ingredients. What to cover? Gram's Eye Rescue utilizes his Nutra-Vit formula to temper under-eye circles, while an Acne Regimen line features spot-on ingredients like green tea and sulfur. His epidermal idol? "My wife, of course!" says Gram. "I did bump into Beyoncé in Las Vegas...her skin is flawless!" Available at drgram.com.
